COUNCIL REFERS WHEN THEY ARE APPLICATION FOR GOING STRONG SIGN PERMITS DO NOT CHANGE

Planning Committee Asked To Report On Request For Construction Of Billboards In Daly City

Formerly we could say "billboards here and there."

Recently the slogan changed to "billboards everywhere."

Now, it seems, we are about to witness a surcease from the latter ugly, unsightly and untidy condition in our beloved Daly City.

At the meeting of the City Council, Monday evening of this week, the members wisely delayed action on the latest permit to erect billboards and referred the matter to the Planning Committee for study and investigation.

Agitation is rife among residents of nearly all communities in our state and country to eliminate or at least limit the number of billboards in every locality.

It is to be hoped our City Planning Committee will wisely recommend to deny permits for the erection of any more billboards to deface the beauty of our fair city.

"Enough is plenty, and plenty is too much," to quote the words of a famous minstrel of recent years.

The reference to the committee came on motion after a request had been read from Foster & Kleiser, who already have a large number of billboards adorning lots facing streets of major importance in Daly City, for permission to erect four more. Evidence that our view is held by others is witnessed by the action taken in Redwood City, Monday of this week, reported in the Redwood City Tribune as follows:

"Before Redwood City's planning commission decides on a recommendation to the council regarding further billboard construction in this city, it will inspect the various sites sought for the signs, members decided at their meeting at the fire-house last night.

"The date set for the tour was Feb. 22—Washington's Birthday.

"Representatives of both the Western Advertising Co., which seeks to put in signs here, and Foster & Kleiser, which already has some signs and wants more, were present last night to press applications."

Let us hope that further permits for further erection of billboards will be curtailed and that in place thereof will arise improvements which will add to the credit and beauty and value as a place to live of our fair and beloved city of Daly City.

High Student Wins Speaking Contest

Elliott Sidey, who recently won first place in the Public Speaking contest held at the Jefferson Union High School, will appear in the county's final to be held, February 24, at Sequoia Union High School, Redwood City. Sidey's speech is based on the famous Broderick and Terry duel.

There will be five contestants selected by their student bodies to represent them at the county finals.

OUR POLICY IS RESTATED

Complaints reach the editor from time to time that certain items called "news" have been omitted from these columns.

The policy of The Record will be that no happening that has transpired more than ten days in the past will be printed.

For instance any happening from Wednesday up until Saturday evening of the week before publication on Friday must be in this office not later than Monday afternoon of the week of publication. Those happenings from Saturday until Wednesday noon, must be in by that time—Wednesday noon for publication on Friday.

The dead line is Wednesday afternoon on anything occurring up to Wednesday noon from the Saturday before, unless exception is deemed expedient for some good reason.

For instance, a party held on June 21 is not news if handed in on July 3. Also, if it happened two or three weeks ago, it has no news value.

The Daly City Record believes in a policy of improvement and progress at all times and will always espouse this shibboleth.

We will soon be confronted with a city election in which three of our councilmen will seek re-election.

These three have proven the most progressive and painstaking in advancing the interests and prosperity of the citizens of our entire community that have, up to date, graced the board.

At all times they have stood and voted for progressive measures that would redound to the benefit of the people of our fair city.

For this reason The Record believes that should be returned to office as councilmen by a large majority at the coming City election.

SUNDERMANN,
TWESTEN and

LIBRARY PLANS MEET APPROVAL OF CITY COUNCIL

Submitted To Members At Adjourned Meeting — Bids For Construction Of Addition Called For

At a regular meeting of the City Council, December 13, a "motion to authorize the chairman of the Library Committee (Councilman Henry Sundermann) to engage an architect to draw up plans for the enlargement of the City Library" was passed by a three to two vote of the members.

Voting in favor of the improvement were Councilmen Sundermann, Twesten and Selmi.

Councilman Sundermann at once contacted Architect Will H. Topke and instructed him to submit plans as early as possible. Sundermann stayed on the job unremittingly and at the adjourned regular meeting of the council Wednesday evening of this week, submitted a resolution to approve the plans as drawn and asking for bids for the construction of the addition as proposed. The resolution was adopted.

Thus, through the energy and persistent efforts of these three members of the board this long thought of and prayed for and urgently needed improvement will become an established fact in the near future.

The new addition will accommodate many citizens and students who, through lack of adequate space, have in the past been deprived of the privileges furnished by a good public library.

Daly City seems at last, through the persistent efforts of progressive councilmen, to be in a fair way to attain a place in the sun as an attractive place in which to reside.

We hope that, through their untiring efforts Daly City may continue on its way as a progressive community by the consummation of public improvements.

Driver In Jail On Accident Charge

As the result of an automobile accident in Daly City, January 23, Vincent A. Thompson, 35, San Francisco interior decorator, languishes in jail at Redwood City.

Thompson, who was injured, has been confined to Villa Sanatorium. He had recovered sufficiently for preliminary hearing, Friday of last week, when Judge Wade H. Clay held him to answer to the Superior Court on charges of driving while under the influence of liquor and causing personal injuries.

Thompson's car was involved in an accident in which four other persons were injured.

JINX IS AVERTED IN DESTROYER LAUNCHING

Sliding down the ways and splashing into the waters of San Francisco Bay, America's newest defender narrowly missed being a jinx when a bottle of champagne failed to break over the bow as Miss Virginia Lee Maury Werth christened the vessel U. S. S. Maury. Shipfitter Herbert Crawford (indicated by arrow) saved the day by smashing the bottle over the bow of the 1500 ton ship at the Bethlehem Ship-building plant in San Francisco. It is considered a jinx when the champagne does not break over the bow of a newly christened ship.

Celebrate Birthday of First President

Washington's Birthday was appropriately celebrated at a Colonial Tea by the American War Mothers in the War Memorial Building in San Francisco, Tuesday afternoon of this week.

The silver service used was loaned in honor of the occasion by several of the mothers. One set was said to be 103 years of age.

Mrs. Mary White of Theta avenue was one of the members who gracefully danced the minuets. Miss Rose's dancing kiddies also furnished several patriotic numbers.

Mrs. M. Pearlman of Miriam street, Mrs. Musante and Mrs. Paravangnia of Flournoy street, were those in attendance from Daly City.

Miss Betty Davis of Flournoy street was in charge of the gay party.

Girls Will Organize New Scout Troop

There will be a registration and initial meeting of Girl Scouts at the Grace Presbyterian Church on Friday evening at 7 o'clock. A new troop will be organized at that time.

Mrs. C. C. Fox, who is leader for the other local troop, will be in charge, assisted by Mrs. Albert Mitchell and Miss Muriel Bill.

WANT BIG GUN BACK

From Twin Falls, Idaho, comes word, this week, that a statewide search has been ordered for a 300 pound cannon that formerly stood in the city park there.

It was a relic of the Spanish-American War.

Collides With Fire Hydrant—Water!

While the storm raged through the Peninsula, Sunday afternoon of this week, an accident occurred which caused a man-made flood to contend with in Daly City. An automobile driven by Delavar Rocco collided with a fire hydrant at Acton and Winchester streets, breaking the hydrant off and causing a geyser of water to spurt into the street.

Police and fire equipment were called, but the water department made repairs.

Rocco told police the accident was unavoidable, as he swerved his car to avoid collision with another machine. He was not held.

MEANEST THIEF

At Placerville, this week, Mearl Mitchell, 26, a laborer, has been placed in the list of "meanest thieves."

Police reported he had admitted forging the name of James Tillis, his brother-in-law, to two state relief checks mailed to Tillis. The checks were taken from Tillis' mail box.

ROMANTIC HIT AT HOME THEATER

To renew a honeymoon is not quite so easy as to "Reno" one, Tyrone Power and Loretta Young find out in their latest picture, Twentieth Century-Fox's "Second Honeymoon," coming Sunday to the Daly City Theater.

Hailed as their perfect picture together, the screen's most exciting sweethearts have already parted in Reno when the story opens, but when they meet under the Miami moon they kiss impulsively and fall for each other all over again.

Marjorie Weaver, Lyle Talbot and J. Edward Bromberg are included in the cast of the film, which marks the fourth time Tyrone and Loretta have appeared together in romantic

TRAFFIC HALTED IN WORST STORM FOR LONG TIME

Roads Washed Out By Heavy Rains And Covered By Mud And Slides In All Sections Of County

Traffic on all highways and roads of San Mateo County was virtually held at a standstill, Sunday night, as a cloudburst flooded highways and streets several inches in depth in places. The torrent of rain blurred the vision of drivers, making travel almost impossible.

On the northern section of El Camino Real, along the Skyline boulevard and on the Ocean Shore highway, mud slides held up the traffic and in several localities forced the drivers to call tow trucks to the rescue and pull their autos from the heavy slides that smashed them in a one to two foot depth of mud.

The Junipero Serra cutoff near Daly City was practically covered with slides. In fact, highway maintenance crews were unable to keep up with the many drifts of rock and debris washed onto the highway from time to time during the storm.

County Engineer U. S. Marshall stated that, as a result of Sunday's downpour, at least two weeks will be required to bring county roads back to normal. Virtually every county road in the mountain districts was closed by scores of small slides, but Monday of this week practically all the important roads

Two Women And Man Are Injured In Bayshore Highway Crash

Near Brisbane, Monday of this week, two women and a man were injured in a rear end collision between cars driven by William Y. Raymond, 50, Salinas, and Fred Everett, 44, Los Angeles, on Bayshore highway at tunnel hill.

Miss Marie Petersen, 36, Alameda, was badly cut on the face, suffered a fractured nose and it was feared she would lose the sight of her right eye.

Miss Gladys Kieren, 33, 940 Powell street, San Francisco, received a fractured left wrist and was cut on the face.

Raymond was badly cut and bruised. All were treated at South San Francisco Hospital.

INDICTED FOR KILLING

In Washington, D. C., this week, Robert F. Langdon, former policeman, was indicted by a District of Columbia grand jury on charges of first degree murder in the seven year old murder of Beulah Limerick, Washington "whoopie girl."

Langdon was assigned to a beat near Miss Limerick's home at the time of the killing.

BEST METHOD IS PREVENTION

The large number of traffic accidents to both pedestrians and motorists during the heavy storms of the past weeks indicates among other things that individuals do not use caution and forethought during these exceptional traffic situations. After the accident is too late, prevention begins in your conscious determination to be careful, considerate and cautious.

In this connection let us make a special appeal to motorists to drive carefully near schools and intersections. You, the driver of an automobile, must be responsible for the safety of all children. Remember that children can run out from behind parked cars. Be a careful driver. San Mateo

Subject of Talk on Washington

Daly City Unit No. 410, American Legion Auxiliary, held its regular meeting Wednesday evening of this week. As this is Americanism month, Mrs. Mary Crane, district Americanism chairman, gave a most interesting talk on the lives of George Washington and Abraham Lincoln and the work they did in laying the foundation for the ideals of Americanism which we are guided by today.

Telegrams have again been sent to our congressmen and senators urging the passage of the Universal Service Act and the National Defense Measure.

Following the business meeting a social hour was enjoyed in the banquet hall. The tables were decorated in white and red, with a Valentine for everyone present. Delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Lombard and her committee.

USE MOMENTUM

Fuel consumption can be materially reduced by taking advantage of the car's momentum.

For example, when starting up a grade shift to second gear before the car slows down to less than 25 miles per hour. This practice also relieves bearings from being overtaxed on a hard pull.

Famous Estate of First President Cannot Crumble

Mount Vernon Could Be Reproduced in Exact Replica Should Destruction Occur By Disaster

What would happen should Mount Vernon be destroyed by fire? Wind, fire or water could never permanently efface this great monument to the "Father of Our Country," as George Washington is so often reverently titled. Safely stored in vaults of fireproof structure in the national capital are architectural drawings of each building, including every conceivable detail. Also, with these plans are photographs of the exterior as well as the interior of the various buildings of this vast estate. A replica of exact design would immediately rise in its place should the original structure be destroyed.

Washington left a mass of information in his diary and letters, which has served as a helpful guide in keeping trees and vistas in the same condition as they were originally; for nature, if left to her unguided wiles, would in time make many changes.

One night, many years ago, in 1853, a South Carolina woman, Ann Pamela Cunningham, journeyed up the Potomac river and was moved by the solemn tolling of the bell, which seemed to be calling for help from doom and decay. Something must be done, she thought, to preserve this old mansion, then over a century in age. Why not place this rescue project in the hands of the women of America? And so, from small beginnings, this woman of Dixie organized the Mount Vernon Ladies Association of the Union.

Funds were raised to purchase Mount Vernon and in March, 1856, the assembly of the state of Virginia granted a charter to this organization. By this charter provision is made that if these women fail in their work the historic mansion and land belonging thereto shall be taken over by the state of Virginia and forever held sacred to its original purposes.

There is an order in the navy of the United States that when ships of the service pass Mount Vernon between sunrise and sunset a full guard and band parades while the bell tolls. Colors are dropped to half mast, bugle sounds taps, while officers and guards do military honors as the ship slowly steams by this spot so hallowed in the memories of all our citizens.

Shakespeare's father was a wool merchant.

NOTES ON OUR ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS

Metalcraft Course Given To Students

Art metalcraft, a new course, is now being introduced in the craft shop at the Woodrow Wilson School.

Several classes of high eighth grade students will be the happy recipients of the course. The students are planning to make copper book ends, trays, envelope openers, bookmarks, etc.

Superintendent R. L. Crane has made this new addition to the many fine craft courses being taught in the school at the present time. Mrs. Corral is the Arts and Crafts teacher.

Art Hobbies

The children of the seventh grade at the Woodrow Elementary and the Jefferson School are having a "hobby lobby" during their art period each week.

Thirty minutes a week is devoted to all hobbies in the nature of hand work and art. Some of the hobbies have been as follows: soap carving, simple wood carving, wood burning, knitting, crocheting, assembling airplane, ship and locomotive kits, cork ship building, collections and assembling scrap books, Indian bead work, sketch books, etc.

This period has met with great enthusiasm on the part of the students and will be continued as long as they are interested.

Teacher Classroom Valentine Parties

The traditional anniversary of the death of St. Valentine was used to impress upon the children of the Woodrow Wilson Elementary School the lessons of friendship, unselfishness, and loving good will. Attractive valentine boxes, adorned the door of every classroom in the school. A specified half hour was set aside, by the permission of Superintendent Crane, when Valentines were distributed. The teachers of the school presented the children of their classes with either candy suckers or hearts. This day will certainly be remembered by the recipients for many years to come, when this childish thrill can no longer be enjoyed by them.

P T A Entertained By Safety Club

The Safety Club of the Woodrow Wilson Elementary School was organized by the children of the seventh grade under the supervision of Miss Crouch. Members of this club gave three interesting talks at the monthly meeting of the P. T. A.

The talks were: "Importance of Safety First" by Summer Combs, "Danger of Falls" by Kenneth Weaver, "The Seriousness of Scalds and Burns" by Nadine Bledsoe. The club members displayed several posters which were original and constructive together with others sent the club by the American Red Cross and American Automobile Association.

The class is very enthusiastic about the new club and invites parents and friends to see their original posters, safety posters, and other material on display in their room.

Cafeteria Helpful During Late Storms

The General Pershing P. T. A. cafeteria has been a great help to the mothers of the community during the recent rainy season, serving a well balanced hot meal to the children for a small sum.

During the time this cafeteria has been in operation hundreds of meals have been served to children free of charge.

The members of the General Pershing committee for the annual Spring Rummage Sale have been working diligently, collecting articles to be sold, and have some interesting items to be offered when the sale starts.

Mrs. Rose Gardella and Mrs. Olga Marquis will represent the Unit at the Seventeenth District meeting to be held, Friday of this week, in San Mateo.

The regular board meeting will be held, Tuesday of next week, at the home of Mrs. Marge Woodside in Redwood City.

A California law states that no horse, cow, pig, goat or other animal or poultry shall be kept in any apartment.

A FLYING SCHOOL FOR CAGED BIRDS

Have you ever heard of a flying school for birds? The name sounds a little superfluous. "Surely," you say, "it is not necessary to teach birds to fly?" You are right, but when a wild bird has been kept in a tiny cage, especially if it is young, its flight, if given its freedom, will naturally be very feeble, and its knowledge of how to find protection and shelter will be nil.

This is where the "Flying School" at East Molesley, Eng., comes in. The idea originated with Miss M. Bradish, founder of the R. S. P. C. A. Caged Bird Poster Fund, and a member of the council of the society. Realizing that to give freedom to a bird that had been kept in captivity and that had been used to having its food provided for it, amounted to nothing short of an act of cruelty, Miss Bradish arranged for the establishment of large aviaries, in which birds could be taught to find food for themselves and to use their wings in the right way. Trees with plenty of branches were placed in the aviaries and every means taken to prepare the young fliers for a normal, happy life.

One of the first scholars to be admitted to this "School" was a young Italian blackbird that could hardly fly at all. As soon as it became known that the keeping of wild birds in captivity in Italy was to be made punishable by law, the owner was about to let the bird go when the cruelty of doing so was pointed out and it was sent to the "Flying School" instead. Mussolini, as the bird was called, soon passed all its tests and no doubt is now enjoying the freedom that all birds should have.

Broke Old Custom's Hold On
Woman And Championed
Her Right To Vote

Over 2300 years ago, the Greek poet Eripides declared, "A woman should be good for everything at home, but for nothing away from it."

From those early days and on down through the annals of history men have been reluctant to abandon this early sage's point of view. It was generally believed by the majority of men and some women of the "Yes" variety (unwilling to think for themselves) that if women were allowed to vote, their decisions as to the fitness of a political candidate would be made in Shakespearean fashion thus: "I have no other but a woman's reason."

I think him so, because I think him so."

One hundred eighteen years ago, in the year 1820, the arrival of a baby girl in Adams, Mass., brought joy to the home of her quiet Quaker parents. The little miss was, in later years, to become "the most persecuted and the most honored of all women." Her name was Susan Brownell Anthony.

It was only about 25 years ago that woman's suffrage was an oft discussed topic in the home, on the street corners and in public debate. Many of us remember, when in our teens, of hearing in the home opinionated statements of the following nature: "It might be proper for women to vote on school affairs, but what does she know about politics. A woman's place is in the home, looking after the needs of her family."

Miss Anthony first became interested in the temperance and the anti-slavery movements. Then she discerned the significant fact that women, like slaves, were being deprived of their heritage to freedom and justice by straight-laced custom, ever repeating itself with unbroken forcefulness through the past and into the present.

In the interest of her sex, as early as 1868 she founded a magazine, "The Revolution," a periodical devoted to women's rights. In 1872 Miss Anthony was tried and fined for attempting to vote under the Fifteenth amendment, in New York.

As a lecturer, the sponsor of Women's rights addressed vast audiences in England as well as in the United States and was a frequent contributor to magazines.

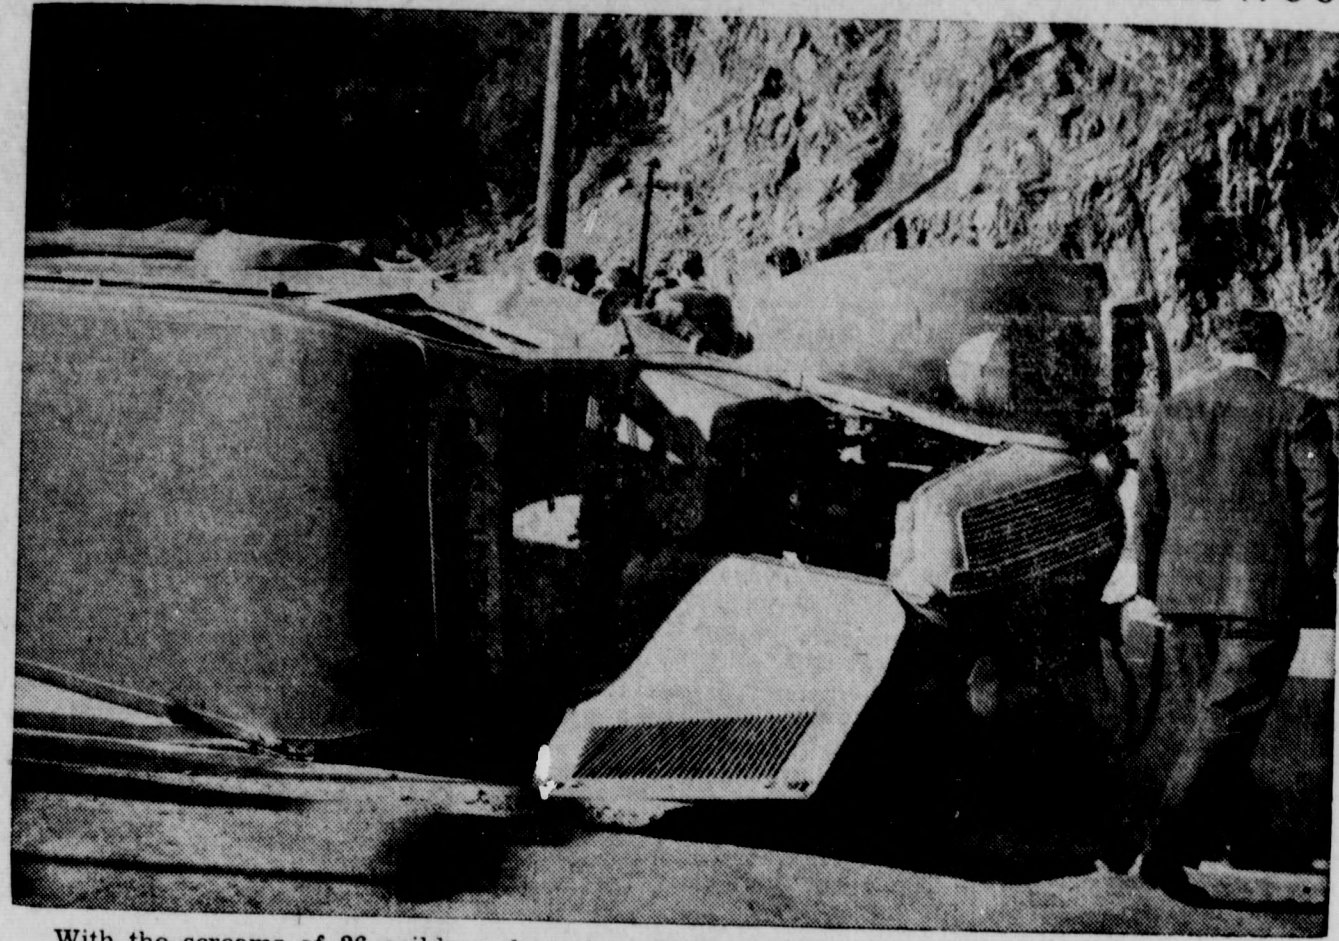

In 1917 the Judiciary Committee of the House of Representatives ordered the Susan B. Anthony Federal Suffrage amendment reported without recommendation. This amendment read as follows: "The right of the citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or any state, on account of sex."

In 1919 both houses of Congress approved the amendment and it was sent to the state legislatures for ratification. The states acted with surprising promptness. By the end of 1919, 22 states had ratified it. Illinois was the first state to record its approval. Wisconsin confirmed it on the same day, but after its sister state had voted. Tennessee was the thirty-sixth state to cast an affirmative vote and only after a bitter struggle, in August, 1920, and the notice of ratification was issued by the Secretary of State.

Finland was the first European country to give the franchise to women.

In 1869 Miss Anthony organized, with Mrs. Elizabeth Cady Stanton,

SCHOOL BUS CRASH INJURES 12 TOTS IN HOLLYWOOD

With the screams of 26 children drowning out the screech of brakes, a Hollywood, Cal., school bus recently crashed into a light sedan in Laurel Canyon while en route to a nearby school. Twelve of the children were injured, two of them requiring hospital attention. Photo shows both the bus and the car into which it collided overturned on Laurel Canyon road. Fourteen other children and the driver were uninjured, although badly shaken.

the National Woman's Suffrage Association, of which she was president for many years.

At the age of 86, the beloved champion of equality passed on, leaving behind her a world made better by her consecrated life to the cause of "Liberty and justice for all."

Sky Talking Aids In Fire Fighting

It is not only in the dropping of supplies and the dropping of chemicals and water that the forest service plans to use the airplane. It is using it to drop the human voice where it is most needed. Experiments have recently been made over the Stanislaus National Forest in California in directing fire fighting from the air by means of a voice amplifier. Fred W. Funke, forest service fire control equipment officer, feels that this practice will have a definite usefulness in searching for and directing lost persons and organized crews engaged in such work, in directing fire line crews to spot fires which may be located from the air, in warning fire crews of impending danger, and in directing fire crews on the line when sudden changes in condition of the fire are observed from the air.

The voice amplifier used by the forest service is the Coast Guard type. Complete, with battery, it weighs 305 pounds. A triple speaker unit drives a single metal horn, which is placed over the side of the airplane and directed toward the ground. A message can be given to men on the ground by the operator in the place from an average distance of a mile and a half. When the motor speed of the plane is cut to a low cruising range, the voice is clearly projected by the amplifier. Ground cover of timber or brush, or a mixture of the two, has no absorbing effect on the transmission, and topographic conditions such as deep canyons and mountain slopes, produce only a negligible amount of reflection and echo.

Being shouted at from the sky would not be relished in ordinary circumstances, but many a fire fighter would be glad to have someone overhead tell how things are going and what to do next.

WASHINGTON NEWS

FROM OUR CONGRESSMAN
JOHN J. McGRATH

Federal Housing Bill—The Administration's housing bill, recommended by the President at the special session last November, is now a law. Both Houses of Congress approved the joint conference committee report on the bill.

Wages And Hours—Chances that a wage and hour bill will be passed at this session of Congress are very bright. Chairman Norton of the House Committee on Labor believes the bill will be revised and should be finished by the last of March. The President is still very anxious for the enactment of such legislation at this session.

Equal Rights—The Senate Committee on Judiciary will hear a proposal for a constitutional amendment declaring "men and women shall have equal rights throughout the United States and every place subject to its jurisdiction" and that "Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation."

Highways—President Roosevelt recently recommended that the federal aid to states for highways be cut down to $125,000,000 annually. House Committee on Roads has been hearing debates on a bill continuing present federal program of $218,000,000 annually. The arguments against curtailment of federal aid is that it would disrupt state plans, affect safety, retard farm to market transport, curtail road construction generally, cause diversion of gasoline and registration fees away from highway use and menace war-time communications.

Unfair Trade Practices—The Federal Trade Commission will be given more power to control unfair trade practices by an amendment to the Federal Trade Commission Act, that has been passed by both Houses of Congress. The amendment gives the Commission more power over certain practices such as misleading advertisement of food, drugs and other such products.

Credit Basis—A plan to put the country's existing money supply to work on a credit basis is being studied by President Roosevelt. He believes this is a better method than the one of borrowing and spending by the Government in order to create more money. Small home building will be the chief outlet in the lending program.

Little Business—Little business men have been heard. They recommend a number of remedies for the present recession. Their platform was composed of 23 planks, some of which were: Enable American banking system to make insured loans for all necessary purposes; modified capital gains tax; repeal of undivided profits tax; investment of private capital in new enterprises; employers and employees to be equally responsibly held for observance of mutual labor agreements; relief administration to be turned over to local communities; monopolies should be curbed; encouragement of home ownership; oppose surtax on small business; and many others.

Widow Pensions—Under a bill favorably reported to the House by the committee on pensions, widows and orphans of World War veterans would receive pensions based on service of veterans, regardless of whether they were disabled or not. Eligibility of a widow would depend on marriage to the veteran before 1941; if childless the marriage must have been by July 3, 1931. Veterans must have served at least 90 days between April 6, 1917 and July 2, 1921 and at the time of the signing of the armistice he must have been in uniform. A widow would receive $22 a month and $6 a month for the first child, with $4 a month for other children under 16 years of age.

Railroad Retirement Board—Approximately $4,500,000 a month was paid in pensions and annuities to 72,613 former railroad workers in November, 1937, under the Railroad Retirement Act. Total payments under the 1935 and 1937 Railroad Retirement Act were more than $33,000,000 up to November 30, 1937.

Social Security—Approximately 890,000 men, women and children received public assistance at some time during the past fiscal year in states co-operating under the Social Security Act. The analysis indicates that the Social Security program is taking over, to a significant degree, obligations formerly borne by relief agencies, and in some instances is complementing other forms of public aid to hold homes together and protect the integrity of family life.

Brides—Those brides of 1937 and 1938 who had Social Security Account cards before their marriage, should send their new names to the Social Security Board in order to prevent confusion in keeping of their wage accounts for federal old age insurance. From any of the Board's 323 field offices, a card for this purpose, designated as "Employees Request for Change in Records," may be obtained. Corrected account number cards will be sent to any one who reports her change of name.

SCIENTIFIC WAY OF ENDING CRIME SOUGHT IN PLAY

Federal Theater Project Players Present Sensational Depiction Of Crime Study

Mysteries of antiquity give way before the mysteries of the present day when the current play "The Sun And I," a tale of ancient Egypt, closes its engagement next Sunday night, to be followed on Monday, February 21, by the New York and London mystery success, "The Amazing Dr. Clitterhouse," at the Alcazar Theater.

"The Sun And I" with its huge and colorful scenic investiture, enlarged stage and gigantic cast has proved one of the big attractions of the Federal Theater Project winter season, bringing more money into the box office than any play since Max Dill's famous direction of the musical comedy, "Swing Parade."

"The Amazing Dr. Clitterhouse," when produced in London and New York last season was one of the outstanding mystery plays of the year. It is the story of an upper brackets London physician who seeks a scientific solution to the ending of crime and the cure of criminals. He becomes so engrossed in his studies of individual criminals and law enforcement methods of Scotland Yard that until the last minute of the play it is difficult to determine whether the learned doctor has not succumbed to the excitement of a burglar's life. The play is packed full of mystery, suspense and is all around good theater, according to the Eastern and European critics. It was written by Barre Lyndon and directed by Wally Gilbert, a newcomer to the government theater who is well known in various parts of the United States for his work in the theater during the past twenty-five years.

Times Have Changed

In Milwaukee, Wisconsin, recently, a Great Dane by the name of Rajah, "put on the dog" while out for a stroll.

The five year old canine saw a parked taxicab with a rear door open, so promptly jumped in. His master sought in vain to entice him out.

Upon the advice of a policeman the cab driver drove his "passenger" to his home. There Rajah stepped majestically from the cab, while his master paid the 50-cent fare.

TROOP NO. 141 and CUB PACK NO. 141

Meets Thursdays 7 to 9 p. m. at Nazarene Church, Vista and Santa Barbara

(Scout Angelo Ditty, Troop Rep.)

Boy Scout Anniversary Week was observed by our troop and pack, beginning on Sunday, February 6. The cubs took part in the Junior Sunday Assembly exercises and the Scouts did the same in the Intermediate-Senior department. Lion Cubs John Mosman and Kenneth Clausen represented the Cubs in the upper department. A goodly number of Scouts and Cubs remained for the morning church services. In the afternoon six Scouts and seven Cubs, together with their leaders, went to the service in honor of Chief Hanson, who is now Regional Scout Executive, held at the Calvary Presbyterian Church in San Francisco.

On Thursday evening our second annual Father and Son banquet took place. It was a very successful affair. Fifty-six were seated at the tables. Scout and Cub mothers served the food.

Mayor Selmi, who has a son in our cub pack, spoke briefly on the need of effective youth work in our city and lauded our efforts and successes thus far. John Mosman spoke from a dad's view of cubbing and his son, a cub, answered him from the boy's standpoint, and did a fine job of it. Sidney King, father of Scout Richard King, made a very effective plea for co-operation, and Scout Glenn Goode handled the situation from the Scout standpoint.

The Cubs had an assembly of honor and several badges of rank were awarded. Jimmie Dake received his Wolf badge and so did Frank Devlin. Wallace Nielsen attained the rank of Lion Cub and Kenneth Clausen, who is nearing twelve, received his gold Honor Arrow—the last award in cubbing. He was presented with a Boy Scout Handbook, as is the custom in the pack for those who graduate. Kenneth will enter the Scout troop on February 22 if all goes well.

Following the banquet, a Tenderfoot investiture service was put on for the admission of candidates Richard Russell, Robert Southerland and George Adams into the troop. It was a very colorful ceremony and was enjoyed by all.

Next was a Merit Badge Court of Honor presided over by Mr. Girbralle, representing the San Francisco Council. Allen Rigler received badges for Art and Leatherwork. Donald Laston received those for Reading and Basketry. Edward McIntosh was awarded the one for Metal Work. Frank Page got the Carpentry badge and Joseph Straughan, Art.

Several stunts were put on by the patrols and were well received by the guests. Troop songs and yells and a closing ceremony ended an evening long to be remembered by Scouts, Cubs, and their guests.

On Friday evening most of the Scouts and Cubs attended the Assembly of Honor for Chief Hanson at the Everett Junior High School. It was a very interesting affair. When the Chief was presented he received such an ovation it seemed that the building would be shaken down. It lasted until he had to go off the stage. Every time he would show himself it would start all over again. Finally some Scout tooted a bugle and it became quiet enough for the announcer's voice to be heard on the loud speaker system, then the Chief spoke for some time on his experiences at home and abroad.

Our troop plans to have an all day hike on Washington's Birthday. With Scout Week a thing of the past for another year we will again get busy on the Festival of Youth which is to be on April 23.

The mothers club has been meeting regularly each week regardless of the rain, and working on needlework projects for the festival. Thanks, moms!

Tomb Discovery Is Favorite Pastime

In Egypt, another tomb has been discovered. It is the burial place of a Second Dynasty noble, sealed since funeral rites, 5100 years ago, or about 3160 B. C.

The Englishman, who only two weeks ago unearthed what may be the true tomb of Menes, the first Pharaoh, made his latest discovery at Sakkara while seeking graves of the servants of this ancient ruler.

This second tomb contains a great crumbling coffin, exquisite alabaster bowls and other objects, which apparently had not been disturbed since burial.

The recent discovery is hailed as a feat comparable to the finding of Tut-ankh-Amen's tomb in 1922.

A 20 year old automobile was left to his heirs, when Gus Gainey passed on. The machine had been driven scarcely 100 miles.

The kin folk of Mr. Gainey said that the car had been purchased in 1917, driven as long as the first five gallons lasted and then parked because of the cost of operation, and the great likelihood of accidents.

OBSERVATION OF VARIOUS THINGS IN OUR CAPITAL

Meet The Woman Who Crashed The Most Exclusive "Men's Club" In The World

(By Hart Goodrich)

Way back in 1931 when Thaddeus Caraway, Senator from Arkansas, passed away, Hattie Caraway, his wife, was appointed to finish his term at Washington. She took up her new duties bewildered by tragedy, confronted suddenly with tremendous responsibilities, weighted with the realization that her state looked to her to carry on the good work begun by her brilliant husband.

She applied herself rigorously to her new job, determined that she would make a good Senator if hard work, keen interest and a determination to serve would accomplish it. And the significant fact about her taking over her husband's job was that she never flaunted or belittled the idea that she was a woman Senator. She insisted on no publicity and deliberately shunned the limelight.

When the election of November, 1932, rolled around she had convinced herself and her state that she was capable to fill the position. In her campaign she stressed her fitness for the post, taking up the various issues the country was facing and explaining where she stood in respect to each.

She won out against the war governor of Arkansas, the Democratic national committeeman and the former head of the American Legion.

Hattie Caraway is 60 years old, has a round, genial face, lighted by twinkling gray eyes and radiates friendliness, common sense and sincerity. She has two sons, recently graduated from West Point, who are lieutenants in the army.

This Senator from Arkansas, is primarily interested in issues vital to her state—agriculture, flood control and social legislation. At the moment she is greatly interested in securing an amendment to the Social Security Act that will equalize the federal contribution to pensions regardless of the amount contributed by the individual states.

Mrs. Caraway believes that as times change so must we change our national perspective and our ideas. She declares: "We can no longer adopt a policy of isolation, nor blind ourselves to the fact that the whole world is our neighbor in this advanced age."

Mrs. Caraway is probably the recipient of more mail than any other Senator on Capitol Hill. Not only do the letters pour in from her own state, but also from almost every state in the Union. They often deal with such matters as birth and death and marriage and divorce and love and health—in fact, practically every human experience. Glancing through the mail, one would wonder if he hadn't gotten this mail mixed up somehow with that directed to some columnist who had set himself up as authority on these subjects.

While she does not attempt to solve such questions, it can be truthfully said that no bona fide request for information goes unanswered.

Even those who may have felt at the outset that a woman in the Senate constituted an intrusion are the first to concede today that Senator Caraway is one of the most popular members of that body. Colleagues pause at her desk to exchange greetings, to consult her with respect to legislation, and to comment on the trend of events. They respect her as a colleague, as a fellow committee member and as a well-informed and capable official.

Large Percentage Apply For Numbers

In California, 2,367,965 persons applied for social security account numbers, up to January 31, according to the field manager of the Social Security Board at San Francisco.

This state is fourth among the states, being exceeded only by New York, Pennsylvania and Illinois. It is stated that this is equivalent to 38 per cent of the population of the state.

Nearly 140,000 applications were received in the past three months.

In order to benefit under the federal old age insurance act, every employed person must have one, and only one, social security account number. Without this the Social Security Board cannot keep accurate accounts of wage records.

POOR OLD PARTY PREDICTED TO BE ON ROCKS AGAIN

Columnists With Republican
Leanings Busy Keeping
Democratic Organization
On Ragged Edge

We hear that the poor old Democratic party is on the rocks again.

From various well known newspaper columnists engaged in the customary surveys of the political situation at this phase of the moment, we glean that rifts and dilemmas are confronting the majority party here, there and everywhere, so deep and bitter that the aggregate of these alarming views suggests an ante-mortem bulletin by doctors from the bedside of the distinguished patient.

It appears that the brilliant young governor of Kentucky is dallying with the idea of tilting with Senator Alben W. Barkley, the party's majority leader in the upper house, for the Kentucky Senatorship. Now those who have something to do with the national organization and are supposed to keep in touch with all party activities thought that this incident was just one of the ordinary political perturbations that always come at this time in a Congressional election year. In fact, they had some difficulty in recalling any similar period during which one or more ambitious Democrat has not indicated his aspiration to take the place of some outstanding member of the House or Senate.

Curiously enough, no suggestion of party shipwreck or other terrific calamity has accompanied these manifestations.

In the ordinary course of events, when the convention or the primary in any indicated case has recorded the verdict of the Democrats of that section, the Democratic National Committee has supported the victor and, in nine cases out of ten, the defeated candidate has promptly stepped into the ranks and worked loyally for the election of the victor.

Just how these columnists are able to figure that because one Democrat is trying to succeed another Democrat in a position of influence and honor it should cause any party embarrassment is rather difficult to understand. Perhaps the answer is that these word-painters and situation surveyors see no sensational headlines in the mere fact of a primary or convention contest, so they build up these towering structures of deep significance with a sort of pep impulse.

Contests A Healthy Sign

Actually, the circumstance of clashing ambitions is a symptom of health and not of disintegration in any successful party. You rarely hear of such conflicts unless nomination is conceded to be a practical guarantee of election. It would be something new to find men striving for the glory of being a loser.

Pretty much the same situation exists in Florida, where a number of sturdy Democrats have the idea that it would be a nice thing to substitute themselves—or one of themselves—for Senator Pepper's place, and it is possible that there might be a half dozen episodes of the same sort in process of development throughout the country.

Usually, but of course not always, the incumbent comes out on top.

It is not difficult to recall that the late Senator Robinson, Alben Barkley's predecessor as majority leader, was always being menaced. Whenever it happened it provided more food for hostile writers to elaborate their cheering thought that Democratic party chaos lay just ahead. It is doubtful if there is one among these eminent journalists who could recall off-hand even the name of the aspirant who was supposed to be threatening Senator Robinson's prestige and position, and thereby periling the solidarity of the Democratic party.

It might also be brought to mind that a couple of years ago that sturdy and distinguished Senate veteran, Pat Harrison, was presented as facing an alarming situation in Mississippi. And yet Senator Harrison is still on his job and as distinguished and efficient as ever, and the old Democratic ship did not even rock because of the alleged gale that was to sweep Mississippi.

Local Virility—No Party Disruption

Pre-primary fights and ante-convention struggles may kick up quite a ruckus at home, but they are merely local disturbances which ordinarily pass with no great party effect.

If the incumbent returns, it is regarded as merely a logical outcome that was to be expected. It also serves for a text on the dictatorial weight of administration pressure. If the incumbent loses, the hostile commentaries shrilly proclaim the happening as an administration defeat.

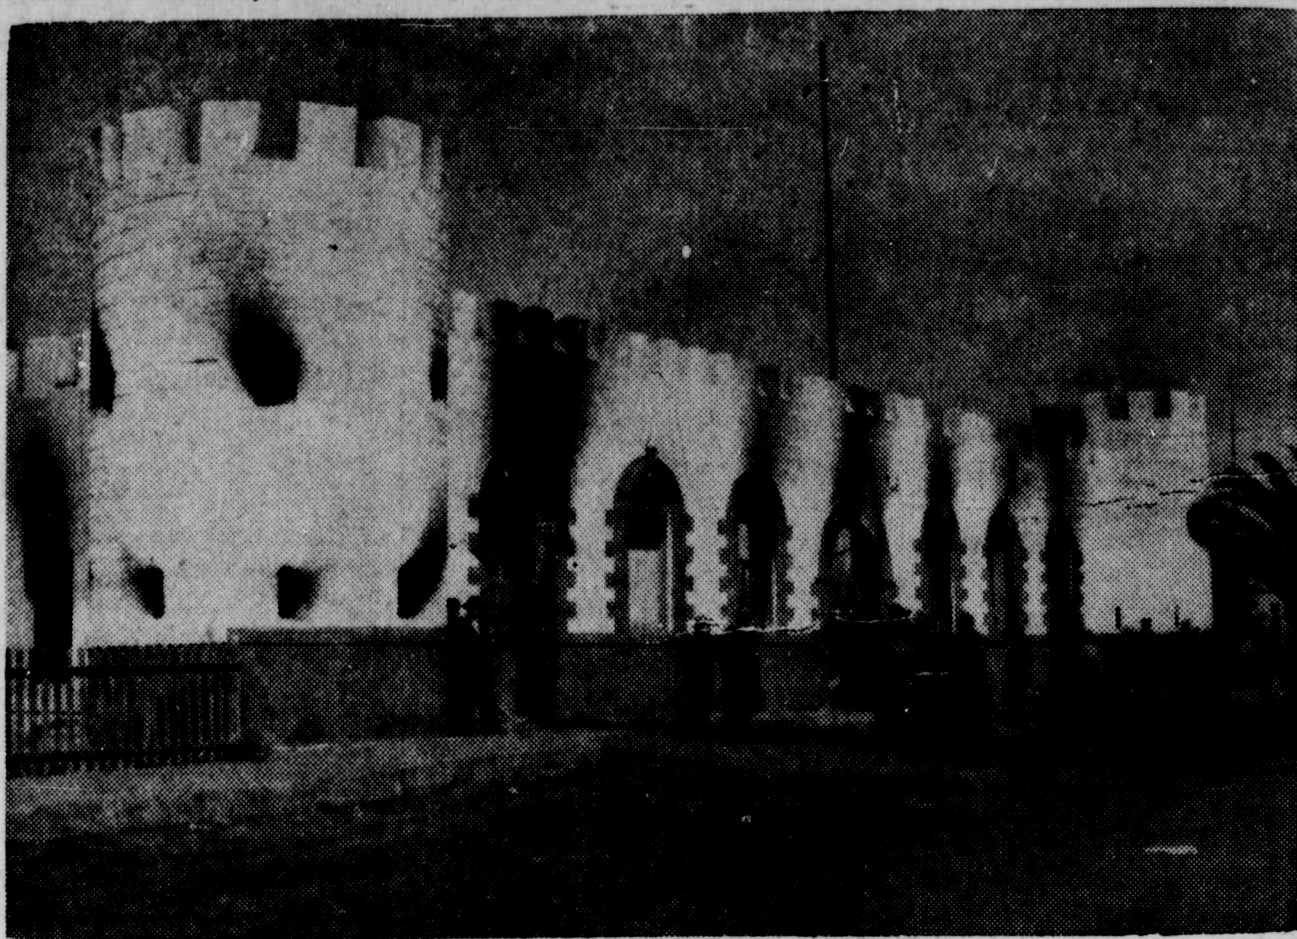

Actually, neither picture can approach correctness. Obviously an administration is happier when the ranks of those who have shown their sympathy with and loyalty to the administration are retained in office. Just as obviously, if a new man comes in—that is the man of the same political complexion—there are bound to be sentimental regrets, but that is about all.

State elections are determined by many things that have little to do with national policies. Local political complications, superiority in campaigning, or a thousand other such things, not infrequently determine the results of local elections.

The only important thing is the circumstance that even if personalities change, the party lineup remains unbroken. And we have yet to see or hear it suggested that any Democratic Senator or Congressman will be succeeded by a Republican next November.

Professional "best men," who arrange and conduct the entire wedding ceremony for clients, have appeared in Budapest, Hungary.

Tia Juana, Mexico, Mob Fire Jail, Quieted by Troops

Enraged by the brutal slaying of Olga Comacho, 8, a Tia Juana, Mex., mob recently demanded the life of a suspect and, when repulsed by police, burned the jail and fired the governor's palace. Marching on the city's hilltop fort, the angry mob was routed by soldiers, who killed three and wounded eleven others. The child's ravished body was discovered in a garage after she had been missing for thirty-six hours. Photo shows the ruins of the erstwhile Tijuana jail. In prohibition days, Tia Juana was the mecca of thirsty Americans.

The city engineer was authorized by this action to proceed at once with the reconstruction of the coverings and other portions of the reservoirs damaged by the storm.

At the meeting, Monday evening a communication was read from the Board of Trustees of the Jefferson School District, granting permission for the use of school grounds for recreational purposes if adequate liability insurance is provided by the City. TRAFFIC HALTED IN WORST STORM FOR LONG TIME were open to travel. The damage, Marshall said, would mount into thousands of dollars.

The worst of the slides due to Sunday's storms occurred on the Tunitas road. Another took place on the Skyline boulevard at the intersection of the Salada Beach road. From Sharp Park to the intersection with the Skyline boulevard, the Ocean Shore boulevard was temporarily closed on account of tumbling boulders. In many places between Sharp Park and Half Moon Bay the road was under several inches of water. Although the Half Moon Bay road west of Skyline boulevard continued open to travel, the slides made motoring hazardous. Forked lightning struck within a few hundred feet of the coastside road. The thunder storm, accompanied by hail, struck the little city of Half Moon Bay about 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon, traveled directly over San Mateo, then passed from sight on over into the East Bay area.

With millions of gallons of water pouring into them the Spring Valley lakes rose perceptibly. The soil is indeed well saturated and should produce banner crops this year.

TALE O' THE TOWN

By Joseph Straughan

THE HAUNTED HOUSE

This being Boy Scout Anniversary Week and February the month of prevalent "colds," a tale of this kind is well in order.

The Waterdog Patrol of Troop No. 141 marching single file, halted abruptly at the command of its leader, Glenn Goode. Pointing cautiously ahead, he whispered to Angelo Ditty something about a haunted house. The message was faithfully relayed back through Frank Pate, Donald Laston, Irving Hughes and lastly to Edward McIntosh.

"Does it have ghosts?" Mack wanted to know in a subdued voice, sensing the gravity of the situation. Painstakingly and in undertones was his question relayed ahead to the leader.

"Yes, it has ghosts," was whispered back along the line to the anxious tail-end.

"Are they bad ghosts?" was his next query and the whispering campaign soon conveyed it to Glenn.

"Yes, they are big bad ghosts," affirmed the leader, and the almost silent message traversed the human telephone line back to the interrogator.

"How far away is the house?" was his next question.

"Five miles away," replied the informer in the same hushed manner.

"Then, why are you whispering?" was Mack's logical and last query.

"Because I have a cold," explained Glenn. Mack just grinned, for he was the last sucker on the line and had been caught nibbling!
